Hi Eric. It must be amazing to come up to your 99th birthday, and a couple of weeks in advance, Happy Birthday. I am working with Deb Bradley, the editorial director of Krause Publications, on a new book proposal whose working theme is Great Collector Investments in Rare Coins. Some of those who I intend to profile are Pittman, Trompeter, John Ford, Harold Bareford... and I would like to also profile you.

In partial preparation for this, I looked at Pete Smith's American Numismatic Biography (p175), a Westlaw check (found a couple of court cases), and a general "Google" search plus the 990 on the EPN Numismatic foundation (from GUIDestar).

I hope I can entice you, because its an interesting story.

If I can entice you, could I have a couple of photos (of you) at various stages of your career that I could use for the book? And can I ask some questions about some of your exciting numismatic moments... To me, the 1913 libery nickel CASE alone is exciting (heard you still have it).

I know that we share a common love of travel (your trip t o Antarctica when I heard about it, made me realie it was possible, so Kathy and I went a few yearsa ago). I'd b einterested in any other information that you'd care to share that wouldbring you9r collecting experiences to life.

best and again, Happy Birthday. David L Ganz

Dear David:

It was very kind of you to send me 99th birthday greetings to me slightly in advance and I realize how lucky I am to be able to retain most of my marbles at this age and keep on doing research and writing. I try to keep on finding and developing new topics and have a nice surprise to be published this fall. As being included in your proposed book I hesitate to participate or be included in anything relating to the word "investment". I am simply a numismatist and collector for enjoyment and to help others participate in the enjoyment. I have had a not for profit numismatic foundation for over 50 years to avoid the commercial side as much as I can. I have with my wife personally made the most of our opportunity to see the world just as you and your wife have. I have been fortunate to know many wonderful numismatists and carefully tried to avoid those whose integrity did not meet the level I felt I needed. I do not seek publicity as I have already had my share. I just hope I can continue to find new numismatic items to write about. I thank you for offering to include me and know you will understand my feelings. Eric

How about if it's just great collectors. No investment. Best David

Again, I appreciate your wish to change the emphasis to include me, but it's just not the kind of publicity that I care to participate in.

Dear David:

I did not realize until now that one of the probable reasons for my position as to your request is that I am alive and still in numismatic action as the others named seem not to be..

Dear David:

It is always a pleasure to hear from you. I do want you to know that I do not participate in any exchange of information groups and that includes LinkedIn. Even a distant cousin in Ecuador asked me to join some time ago when I had never heard of the group. I am sure you will understand my feelings. Eric
